BRITISH AND FRENCH DELEGATES SAID TO BE VEERING TOWARD MODIFICATIONS

By FRED S. FERGUSON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, June 6—British and French delegates are reported today to be approaching agreement on a degree of modification of the German peace treaty. It was understood that changes in the terms probably will result in some measure in both groups. The French are receding from their previous strong opposition to modification with the British agreeing to abandon most of the exactions recently advocated by them. The reply to the German counter proposal which will embody the proposed modifications is expected to be ready for presentation early next week.

INDEPENDENT SOCIALIST LEADER HAASE WANTS GERMAN DELEGATES TO SIGN UP

By CARL D. GROAT

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, June 5, Delayed—Hilbert Haase leader of the Independent Socialists, declared in an interview today that the Germans should sign the peace treaty regardless of whether they obtain the modifications. "Personally I believe the German delegates should do their utmost to secure modification but they should sign at any rate. It is more to their disadvantage not to sign them to accept it in its present harsh form."

POSTMASTER GENERAL BURLERSON CALLED "FLIM FLAMMER" BY SENATOR KELLOGG

WASHINGTON, June 6—That Postmaster General Burleson still controls telegraph and telephone wires and that his order to restore control to the owners was "flim flam" and designed to "pass the buck" were the views advanced today as the Senate Inter-State Commerce committee met to consider wire legislation. N. C. Kingsbury vice President of the American Telephone and Telegraph company declared that Burleson's order of late yesterday "wiped out only the operating board and allowed the company to take charge of actual operating." "But Postmaster General Burleson," he said "still holds control over the wires with the wire control board of which he is chairman."

"Then his order was a case of 'flim flam'," said Senator Kellogg chairman of the committee. "It doesn't amount to anything."

EXCHANGE OF CHILDREN BETWEEN UNITED STATES AND FRANCE

By PROF. ANDRE FRIBOURG

(Written for the United Press)

(Note—Professor Andre Fribourg is professor of history in the Capital College of the University of Paris. He served as a soldier during the war and was wounded at Verdun. He has been touring the United States for the past five months, lecturing and gathering information for the French Press and Government on American-French relations. Professor Fribourg is the author of a dozen books, mainly on modern history and topics relating to foreign affairs.)

The American and the French people more nearly resemble each other than do any other two nations in the world. Therefore when I return to Paris, I shall report to my government that every encouragement should be given to a close understanding between yourselves and ourselves.

You Americans as far as temperament is concerned, are the direct descendants of the English of Shakespeare's day. You are not like the present inhabitants of the British Isles. You resemble more the Elizabethan English, who were more like the French than the English of today. That is why you have so many traits in common with the modern French. When Shakespeare wrote his plays, the French and English were similar. From that time on the English character in the British Isles did not develop along the same lines as the French. Only the English who came to America continued the tradition.

Americans and French are alike in temperament and persistent optimism. They have the same eager mentality. They react in similar manners to similar experiences. They are quick in thought and their vitality is never at rest. They are the modern Elizabethans. This fact, which I have discovered in America, has caused me to determine to recommend to the French government that an exchange of children be arranged between our two countries. American children between the ages of 15 and 16 should be sent to France to live in full home intinuity with French families. French children of the same impressionable age should come to the United States and be temporarily adopted here. By this means, the next generation in France and America would know one another as intimately as they know themselves.

I shall urge upon the French government the desirability of exchanging professors and students with American universities. I favor the universities of each country adopting one another as sister institutions, so that they shall have a greater sense of comradeship than usually follows the more formal exchanges of lecturers.

These are some of the ways by which our impressions of each other can be moulded by actual facts instead of absurd rumors and false reports. The only reason Frenchmen and Americans have not been seen to resemble each other hitherto is because our views of each other have been too distant. We have trusted to casual visits, instead of really studying our fundamental characteristics.

Once it is understood how similarly we view life and how parallel are our ideals, I believe we ought to be in a position to form a military entente. I am convinced the economic pressure which the League of Nations has created as its principal weapon will never be able to prevent war. Germany not only resisted the pressure, but fought the world's most victorious war. The League of Nations must have military weapons until the spirit of idealism has permeated the peoples of the earth. The best weapon of this kind would be a Franco-American entente, making known to the world that the armies and navies of both countries have been united as formal allies for the preservation of peace. The Franco-American union is the world's peace.

GETTING READY FOR BIG FAIR

The Clearfield County Agricultural Society is hard at work on their plans for Clearfield County's Big Fair which will be held at the Clearfield Driving Park September 16, 17, 18 and 19, 1919.

The premium list issued some four weeks ago shows greatly increased premiums over other years, and from large number of exhibits already listed this year's fair promises to eclipse anything held in this section of the state for years.

It is quite likely that some high class horse racing will be added to this year's amusement program and thus furnish entertainment for everybody.

Keep in mind the Big Fair because it sure is going to be some time.

The meeting of citizens called by Mayor John M. Chase to make arrangements for the welcome and home-coming reception to the Clearfield county service men was not attended by as large a crowd of people as it was hoped would be there.

After discussing the matter at length a resolution was unanimously adopted empowering Mayor Chase to appoint a committee of five citizens to meet with the Clearfield Park association to arrange for a program at the park on Saturday July 5th, for the soldiers, sailors and marines and also to select and perfect an organization for the purpose of arranging for the entertainment of the visitors while in Clearfield.

Mayor Chase appointed the following committee: Walter Welch, M. M. Overy, W. J. Usher, J. Frank Snyder and J. D. Connelly.

ELEVEN DAYS REMAIN FOR CENTENARY

Methodists in This Area Need $750,000 To Complete The Quota of $7,159,000

CHURCHES INCREASE GIFTS

Baltimore, Md., June 4—Methodists in this area are expected to raise $750,000 in the next eleven days, to complete the area quota to the great Centenary fund for world relief, evangelistic and educational projects. The full quota for this area, $7,159,000 in all probability will be fully pledged by June 15th.

Additional returns from various districts received at Centenary Headquarters, here indicate that pastors and their team captains are making spirited campaigns to put their churches over the top.

Earnest work by church leaders in localities that got a late start in the big financial drive has caused the figures to mount steadily. Tabulation of reports from all parts of the area show that the delayed campaigns are progressing most favorably.

Centenary directors here are confident that before the time limit for subscriptions has expired the Area's quota will be pledged in full. This assurance is based upon reports from Superintendents stating that the drive drive gained momentum following the week devoted to an intensive financial canvass of members.

Several hundred churches which have not yet reached their quotas are continuing the campaign in their localities with a view of making a 100 per cent canvass.

In scores of churches throughout the Area the financial campaign will be featured by jubilee celebrations on June eighth and fifteenth. On these two Sundays, the doubtful or weaker churches are expected to roll up a large total of subscriptions. Clergymen in such localities are making a heroic effort to put their churches on the honor Centenary roll.

Rev. Dr. M. E. Swartz, executive secretary of the Centenary, today declared that the Methodist drive got a late start in many communities owing to local preferences, but he said the campaign in such places is now going forward most satisfactorily. An encouraging idea of the Centenary Drive was found in reports today showing that in many churches where the full quota was raised additional subscriptions are being turned in by members who had not had an opportunity to make a gift earlier. Many subscribers previously listed also have

SAM BARONI'S BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire destroyed the large frame barn on the rear of the Dr. S. F. Nevling lots immediately adjoining Callahan Bros. Bottling Works at an early hour this morning. The fire started in the hay mow and had burst through the roof when discovered.

The alarm was sent in from Box 17 at the Penny station and when the firemen arrived on the scene it looked very much as though both Ira Waite's residence and the Callahan Bros. Bottling Works would be burned, but by the hardest kind of work, the flames were confined almost entirely to the barn.

The Waite residence and the pop works were each slightly damaged, the roof of the bottling house having been on fire several times.

The barn was owned by Sam Baroni and occupied by the owner and W. B. Holmes dray team. Two horses were in the barn when the fire broke out and were rescued with difficulty. The wagons and harness were also got out, before the rapidly advancing flames drove the firemen out of the building.

It is not known how the fire started but is supposed to have been caused by persons sleeping in the hay-mow. It was the most spectacular fire in Clearfield in many months and on account of its location and the possibility of a real conflagration attracted an immense crowd of spectators to the scene.

Mr. Baroni purchased the property from Dr. Nevling several months ago. His loss will total about $1000 and is pretty well covered by insurance.

W. B. Holmes lost harness and feed to the amount of $100.

Dr. Nevling had about $300 worth of goods stored in the barn and they too were burned.

MRS. FLORENCE FIELDING DIES

Mrs. Florence Fielding, widow of the late Frank Fielding, passed away at the Fielding home on Front street, at 11:30 o'clock this morning, aged about 75 years.

Mrs. Fielding had been a sufferer from cancer for many months and her death was not unexpected. Her funeral will be held from St. Francis church Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Obituary notice tomorrow

Reports from different parts of the United States show that the delayed campaign are progressing favorably but the full amount will not be pledged probably for two weeks. By that time an official announcement is expected that the $105,000,000 fund has been raised by Methodism to carry forward hundreds of projects both in the United States and abroad.

REDS PLAN SPECTACULAR BOMB PLOT FOR JULY 4TH, IS OPINION

WASHINGTON, June 6—Word is being passed through "red" circles for a demonstration July 4. Government officials here have been informed, it was learned today. According to these reports "the May day" outrage, June 2 bomb outrage, and the July 4 plot spectacular, continues a progressive series of developments against the government. As a result additional precautionary measures are being taken by officials to strike the reds insofar as the present law permits. Congress is preparing legislation to further the government's campaign against the menace.

PRESIDENT KONENKAMP DECLARES FOR FINISH FIGHT WITH WESTERN UNION

WASHINGTON, June 6—President S. J. Konenkamp, of the Commercial Telegraphers Union of America today declared that Postmaster General Burleson's order restoring the control of the wires to their owners means a "finish fight" between the telegraphers and the Western Union throughout the country. "Federal control," Konenkamp said "was made necessary by the Western Union refusing to reinstate unjustly discharged employees and the abandoning of recommendations of impartial authorities. Postmaster General Burleson by his action in returning the wires shows himself a quitter. He has acted without solving the labor problem which made necessary the original seizure of the wires by the government. We now find ourselves returning to the status quo ante."

Electric workers throughout the country have set June 16, as the date upon which they will leave their jobs and it was regarded likely that Konenkamp will select the same date or the day before or after for the nation wide telegraph strike.

Administration officials were keeping in close touch with strike developments. President Wilson will take a hand in it is thought.

ATLANTA, June 6—Striking leaders early today claimed that at least 950 telegraphers in the southeast had obeyed Konenkamp's strike order issued late yesterday. Railroad operators also are refusing to handle Western Union dispatches at way stations.

PRESIDENT CARLTON SAYS ALL IS WELL

NEW YORK, June 6—Newcomb Carlton, President of the Western Union today declared that the strike of telephone operators in the southeast state was a "flat failure."

"Not a man who leaves the Western Union in an attempt to embarrass the company will ever be permitted to return," Carlton said. "The strike is a flat failure. We have not felt the effect of the walk out. We will control the situation and deliver our business."

With only one Senator, Williams, of Mississippi, voting against it the Senate passed the Borah resolution urging the American delegates to "endeavor to obtain a hearing for the Irish commissioners before the Versailles conference."

"CLEARFIELD LUCK" AGAIN

Modern fire equipment costs money, alright, but when you have it you have something to be deepened upon and to be proud of. Clearfield's up to date fire equipment just about paid for itself in last night's fire. This was one of the fires where nothing but the promptest kind of prompt action was absolutely necessary to save a disastrous blaze.
The alarm was sent in from Box 17 at the Pennsy station and the instant the hook was pulled "Mooley" let loose. The four hose wagons were on the move almost instantly (some of the boys will stay out a little late) and every second gained was needed.
When they arrived on the scene the fire laddies did the rest, and what, at the time of sounding the alarm looked like a $25,000 fire was nipped right short off in the bud in the usual Clearfield style.
You can call it "Clearfield luck" if you will, but do you notice it generally happens that way. Go down and look the ruins over and see what the boys really did.

LETTER FROM LIEUTENANT BRUCE JACOBS

Mother's Day, France, May 11, 1919.
Dear Mother and Dad:
Will write you people a few lines. Am in the very best of health and hope this will find you people the same. Hope by the time you receive this letter you will have the money which I sent you last week.
Mother have just been thinking. That the greater part of the A.E.F. is homeward bound. In a few months (weeks for many) the sufferings of the past and the discomforts of the present will become but a memory. The thousands of young men gathered together from all parts of the country will be separated, each to his home, into his own way of life, and little by little, the A.E.F. will become a memory in the minds and hearts of those who were in it. The pain, sorrow, discouragement and privations, they bore, will become hallowed by the soothing hand of time, and the memory of those days we have but recently lived and are living now, will stand in a different perspective, shadowed not by the dull grays of the present, but by the roseate tints of the past, that ever envelopes romance and adventure.
Time passes and the youth of today is the mature man of tomorrow and he, who but a boy in years faced death and things worse than death (clean living) in the great adventure of all the ages, is a mature man. Greater personal cares have come to him in the paths, others than those of war. But with equal responsibilities, and in campaigns that only end with life. The path of daily living, of citizenship, and with most of them husbands and fathers.
These men who are to be the power of our land in years to come. To think to ourselves (in whose hands they have been) and greatest of all world.

There will be a regular meeting of Clearfield Council No. 281 O.U.A.M. on June 7th, 1919 at 7:30 P. M. All members requested to be present as important business is to be transacted.
By Order of Council.
Private Earl F. Getz arrived home last evening after being mustered out from Camp Lee. Served 1 year overseas and was wounded.
The number of coconuts produced each year is estimated at 8,000,000-000 of enough to give seven apiece to every man, woman and child in the world.

GOthic BARN ADDS TO FARM GROUP

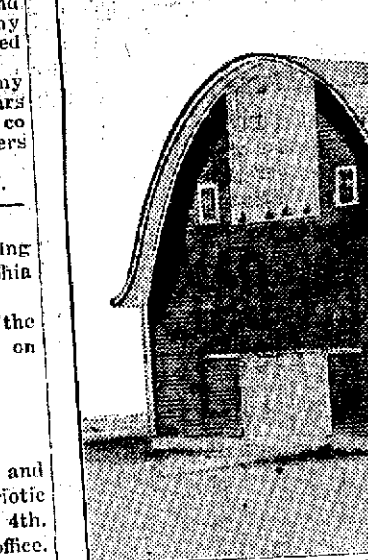

Provides Attractive as Well as Useful Building.

SUITED TO AVERAGE FARM

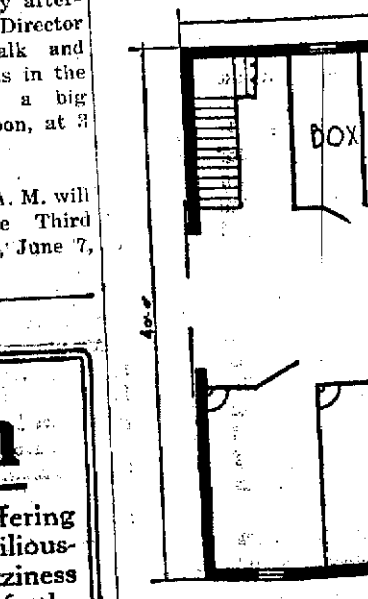

Interior Arrangement Combines All Features and Allows for All Equipment Necessary in Proper Care of Stock.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building work on the farm, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1027 Prairie Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose three-cent stamp for reply.

The barn on a modern farm is something more than a house for the live stock and their feed. By choosing a style of architecture for the barn design that conforms to that of the other buildings of the farm group, the owner derives a great deal of satisfaction from such a new structure. Beautiful, graceful lines of the building, combined with its utilitarian value, have brought the gothic barn in great favor during the last 20 years. Herewith is illustrated a gothic barn that will be a notable addition to any farm building group. And besides its attractive appearance, this barn is designed so that its interior arrangement will combine all the features and allow for all the equipment that have been found to be necessary in the proper care of live stock and to do the work required to care for the animals.

The building is 80 by 40 feet, of wood construction, set on a concrete foundation. The stable floor is also of concrete, which permits of a driveway and gutter, the latter being one of the prime necessities in keeping the live stock housed in a clean building.
The floor plan given shows one use of the space in the barn. This arrangement, however, may be changed to suit the needs of the owner, whatever they may be. It is equally possible, of course, to increase the length of the barn, the width being ample for all practical purposes, and to make over the interior arrangement to provide for other horses or cattle.
It also should be understood that in getting the artistic roof lines there is so waste of materials, the architect saving worked out this plan with the idea of economy in materials foremost in mind. The heavy arches necessary to support the roof have been provided with little more material than is used in the ordinary barn.

The floor plan given is for eight cows and a like number of horses. However, it is an easy matter to make this a model dairy barn by facing the animals in and putting litter alleys and gutters on either side. The driveway through the center of the building is of exceptional value, as it allows the owner to drive into the barn with feed, eliminating the necessity of carrying it in by hand.
By the ventilator shown on the roof of this structure, it will be seen that the architect has provided a system of ventilation, without which no modern barn is complete. Fresh air and fresh water—plenty of both—are necessary to health and productivity of cows as food. A water system carrying water to each stall also saves much labor.

Along either side of the barn are windows spaced so that the interior of the stable floor is well lighted and will get plenty of sunshine. The latter is a great germ killer and goes far toward making the building sanitary. For this reason many dairymen prefer to face the animals in, so that the sunshine hits the gutter. It also has been noticed that cows in a field invariably graze with the sun at their backs.
This is an exceptionally good barn design. It is so large that it costs a great amount of money, but is large enough to supply the needs of the average farm.
Every individual who needs buildings, whether they be a home, a barn, a granary, a business or manufacturing building, is urged by the government and all others who have the welfare of the country at heart, to build now. Recent investigations have shown that the increase in price of lumber, cement and all the other things that go into a building have increased far less than any other commodity. And furthermore, it has been determined by the United States department of labor, after a careful survey of conditions, that there is no probability that these costs will be decreased within the next few years. Reconstruction demands in Europe, coupled with a shortage of supply, make it seem certain that building materials will remain at the present price level.
There is a profit-making side of owning good farm buildings that the government officials also are bringing to the attention of the farmers of the country. Never in the history of the United States have the prices of foodstuffs been so high. Grain of all kinds brings double the price it did only a few years ago; live stock prices have increased in proportion.

While it is true that the cost of producing grain and of feeding and fattening live stock for the market have also risen, they have not gone up in proportion to the price obtained for the farm products. The fact that labor costs are high makes it all the more essential that the farm crops and farm stock should be housed in buildings where the work can be performed with the least amount of effort. Saving a couple of hours a day in caring for the live stock is a worth-while saving.
Building a modern barn at this time is not only a patriotic thing to do, but it is good business. Grain and cows are too valuable to be housed in any building that does not keep the former from the weather and the raids of rats and other animals, and the latter in a healthy and productive condition.

IMMIGRATION LAWS TO BE REVISED

WASHINGTON, June 5—Aversion of the immigration laws will be one outgrowth of the nation-wide bomb plot.

Secretary of Labor Wilson has received from Anthony Caminetti, Commissioner of Immigration a lengthy report embodying proposed changes in the law.

The first of these provides for the registration of all immigrants upon their arrival in this country, together with information concerning their habits, appearance, and purposes in this country.

The second provides a probationary period for immigrants. This will enable the Government, in the event it suspects a new arrival of bad tendencies, to grant him permission to remain in the country for a stated period, of say, three or six months.

If his conduct during this time is satisfactory and if he gives evidence of becoming a prospective American citizen, he will be allowed to remain here. If he shows anarchistic tendencies or other shortcomings, however he will be deported immediately to the land from whence he came.

There are approximately 4,000 aliens awaiting deportation at the present time, Mr. Caminetti said today. The majority of these are insane, but a goodly number of anarchists and revolutionists are numbered in the horde. Mr. Caminetti said: "If the changes suggested are finally incorporated in the law, the burden of proof will be on the applicant who seeks admission to this country. As things are now, the burden of proof is on the United States Government to prove the immigrant is an undesirable citizen."

There are few developments here today in the investigation of what remains of the anarchist who attempted to blow up the residence of Attorney General Palmer and kill that official and his family, but who was slain by a premature explosion of his own infernal machine.

BIG CONFERENCE MEET TO BE HELD IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, June 6—College athletes from Ohio to California are arriving in Chicago for the annual outdoor championship meet of the Western Intercollegiate Conference Athletic Association, to be held at the University of Chicago tomorrow. The official entries include nearly a score of the largest universities and colleges in a territory embracing four-fifths of the United States. Several hundred nominations have been made for the various events. On the basis of recent performances, the University of Michigan and the University of Chicago are expected to rule favorites, although several other members of the "Big Ten" are expected to put up a hard tussle for premier honors. General interest in the meet has been increased by the practical certainty that the star performers will be assured of places on the American team which will be sent abroad next spring to take part in the Olympic games to be held at Antwerp.

In the early days of the confectionery trade it was entirely in the hands of the apothecaries. Not until the beginning of the eighteenth century was the confectionery business separated from that of the apothecary, and sweets pure and simple began to be sold.

Within the past few years the price of furniture made of mahogany and walnut has almost doubled, largely because of the vast amount of these woods being used in the making of aeroplane propellers.

17,549,324 U. S. CATHOLICS

This Does Not Include Floating Population, Says Compiler.

There are 17,549,324 Catholics in the U. S., says the 1919 edition of the Official Catholic Directory, just published by P. J. Kennedy & Sons. This figure shows an increase of 133,021 over the preceding year. Decreases were shown in nine dioceses. The increase is the smallest in several years, but this is explained by the fact that censuses were not taken in many dioceses owing to unsettled conditions caused by the war.

Joseph H. Meier, who compiled the directory, says the total would be close to 20,000,000 if the floating Catholic population could be recorded.

An Old Recipe To Darken Hair

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone who knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark thick and glossy and you look years younger.

The Blessedness of Heaven

Professor of Bible Doctrine and Homiletics
Meedy Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes.—Rev. 21:4.

One of the complaints of unbelievers concerning the Bible as a revelation from God, is its seeming scarcity of details concerning the nature of the heavenly life. Considering the interest which must ever be attached to a subject so lofty and important as immortality, it has been claimed that God might have told us a little more about the heavenly home and the life to which the Gospel is a divine invitation. To such objections, there are two answers:

First, God has been limited in his revelation by man's capacity to receive, and second, Bible revelation concerning the future is much larger than is generally supposed.

That God should be limited in his revelation by our capacity to receive is easily understood. The returned traveler from Europe cannot give a detailed description of the architecture of Westminster Abbey to his little child, not because he does not desire to do so but because the child is without ability to interpret words concerning carved columns, arch domes, and sculptured marble. Indeed God has protected the Bible from the saucers of the incredulous by limiting the descriptions of heaven to what seem a few minor details. We have read of an Oriental prince who laughed in the face of the Western traveler who told of rivers chilled to hardness so that an elephant might walk on their surface. It is related that the Southern pastor of a rural church was tried for falsehood because he told of an ice-making machine seen in the North during a summer vacation. God has told men already more than the natural man can believe.

A Wondrous Description.

The Bible descriptions of heaven are exceedingly large to those who study the Bible with care. The closing chapters of Revelation tell of a final judgment, a renovated earth and a sinless life for redeemed humanity. In this description the highest things of earthly contemplation such as jewels, precious stones and pearls become the lowest things of the heavenly life, where streets are of gold and the precious stones capitate city walls. All this is significant, but perhaps the finest description of heaven is contained in the single phrase, "God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes." If nothing else were written, this would be enough, for it is the promise that God will eliminate from the future every tear-provoking circumstance and all existence with all the things that belong to blessedness. If we can by survey of life discover the varied causes of pain and tears, we shall thereby discern the fullness and joy of that life where tears are no more.

Tears of Physical Pain.

Physical pain is a very real thing. The cry of the infant, as it first draws its vital breath; the moans of distress from homes and hospitals; the cries of the wounded and dying on battlefields; the compressed lips of old age as it struggles against decay, all tell of the terror of physical pain. It means much to read of a life where "this corruptible shall put on incorruption, and this mortal shall put on immortality." He who can change the dark soil into the rosebud and the carbon into the diamond can give man the body of glory in the future.

Tears of Vexation and Disappointment. Tears of vexation and disappointment have blinded the eyes of most people. Unshed tears fill the hearts of thousands who cannot reach their ideals in life. There are the tears of those who have loved and lost, or worse still have loved and gained and found the object of love unworthy. All these tears will be wiped away in the future. We shall dwell in the divine light and know the divine will and no longer enter paths of weary effort that must be retraced with bleeding feet.

Tears of fear and dread occupy a large place in human experience, also tears of bereavement and loneliness, and the tears of ignorance are those that come to the eyes of truth-loving men, as they realize the limitations of human wisdom and yearn for a fuller knowledge of the unknown. But the full revelation is coming, and the fearless life shall be ours who believe in Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord.

Patience.

The exercise of patience involves a continual practice of the presence of God. For we may be come upon at any moment for an almost heroic display of good temper, and it is a short road to selfishness, for nothing is left to self; all that seems to belong most intimately to self, to be self's private property, is invaded by these continual trials of patience. The family is full of such opportunities.—F. W. Faber.

The rat is the only wild animal that lives under the same roof with man.

MANY MONARCHS IN THE DISCARD

LONDON, June 6.—What has become of the many monarchs whose thrones were set stumbling either before or on that fateful day of last November, when the collapse of the Central Powers ended general hostilities? All told, there are near a hundred one-time rulers—emperors, kings, princes, grand dukes and those of lesser degree whom the war has left without a job. The greater number of these, of course, were the rulers of the petty States included in the German empire. Some of these are still lingering around their former capitals in the hope that something might turn up to their advantage. The most of them, however, have deemed it wisest to get out of sight of their former subjects and have taken refuge in a foreign country. Switzerland is the place of exile of the most of the former German rulers of lesser degree, while the Scandinavian countries are also offering some of them a temporary abode.

The former Kaiser Wilhelm and the Crown Prince, as most people are aware found asylum in Holland. But much less is known as to the whereabouts of the other one-time sovereigns who hurried to safety like a flock of panic-stricken sheep when the signing of the armistice emptied their thrones.

Constantine of Greece, who made his exit long before the final curtain is skulking fearfully in Switzerland, which is also the asylum of the Grand Duchess of Luxembourg and the sister who was allowed to take her place for a few turbulent weeks.

Ludwig of Bavaria is racing and doubling like a scared rabbit through the forests about Munich, sleeping in a different place every night and heaving ever-increasing signs that he has become afflicted with the mental malady which has been the curse of Bavarian royalty for generations. Ludwig's particular hallucination is that his soldiers won the war.

Nicholas of Montenegro is at present in Genoa visiting two sons-in-law, Russian grand dukes who succeeded in getting out of their country before the Bolsheviks got them. Peter of Serbia still keeps up a semblance of royalty, but he is not likely to venture into his own domain. His erstwhile neighbor of Bulgaria—King Ferdinand—who made a bad guess when he tried to pick the winning side in the war, is said to be hiding under an assumed name, and disguised, in a Vienna slum.

Charles Groce son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Groce of Sixth street, arrived home last evening after eighteen months service overseas.

Many Cases Of Rheumatism Now

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry. Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat

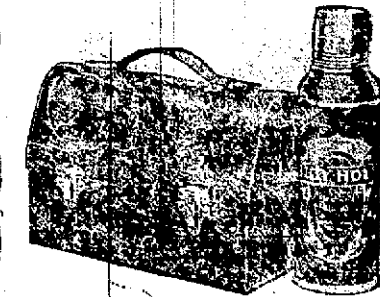

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do considerable work. They become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps circulating and accumulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism, get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

Tonight the commencement exercises of the graduating class of the P. G. H. School for the year's term of 1918-19, will be held in the Academy of Music. After the class exercises a banquet will be held at which a number of graduates will attend.

The baseball game scheduled between Clearfield and Curwensville clubs to come off at 2:30 p. m. yesterday was postponed until 6:30.

Chas. Wall and family and Verne Wall and family left this morning by autos, for a trip to Niagara Falls and other summer resorts in York state.

Mr. Herb Shearer, who has been working in Harrisburg, is home and been on the sick list for the past two weeks.

Are Curwensville citizens going to celebrate the Fourth of July this year is a question agitating the minds of a good many of our people who do not have any desire to leave town on the natal day. What's the matter with having a regular, old-fashioned picnic at the Pee-Wee's Nest, same as the merchants held on those grounds a few years ago? We believe that would be just the proper thing for us older people who like to spend a quiet day among friends and acquaintances.

Mr. C. S. Russel is expected to arrive home the latter part of this week.

Mrs. A. E. Patton will arrive home on Saturday.

Those nice little showers of rain yesterday are just what was needed to make garden plants look up and take notice.

Miss Ruth LaPorte spent yesterday among the stores in Clearfield.

Mr. William Woodside, who was one of the efficient clerical force at the Bickford store for the past four or five years, has resigned his position. Mr. Woodside was a good clerk, and made many friends during his employment with the company who are sorry to see him leave his old position. He will follow some out-door employment during the balance of the summer.

Walter Brown came in from Brookville yesterday to see his mother.

MOTOR CARS "Built of the Best"

THE DAVIS is outwardly an exceptionally beautiful car. Distinctiveness is built into every line—it is a car you will be proud to own and to drive.

Inwardly it is a marvel of mechanical excellence—an assemblage of the highest grade units from the best specialists in the country.

No one single maker can reasonably hope to excel in the manufacture of all the parts that go into an automobile. We prefer to go to the specialists in each line for the best units that are built.

Our nine years of success and the constantly increasing popularity of Davis Motor Cars demonstrate the wisdom of this policy.

"Built of the Best" has a definite meaning when applied to the Davis. For instance, Continental motors, and other units of equally high quality.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast
keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense
health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians, the world over recommend the inside bath claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink
each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash
from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath coated tongue nasty taste or have a dull aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach others, who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results both in regard to health and appearance.

INJURY TO EGGS IN TRANSIT

Much of Damage Is Directly Due to Faulty Methods of Packing Valuable Foodstuff.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The bureau of chemistry, through the food research laboratory, has been assisting in reducing the damage to eggs in transit by giving practical demonstrations at shipping points in loading cars of eggs or mixed eggs and dressed poultry. Much of the damage is directly due to faulty methods of packing eggs in cases and stowing the cases in the car. Four meetings held recently in Iowa were gated Lining and Filled of Same

attended by over a hundred shippers who send cases weekly, at least, to eastern markets and who expressed great interest in the methods which the department has worked out for the conservation of this valuable foodstuff. They and many others have found the department's folder, "How to Load Cars of Eggs," of assistance.

VIGOROUS HEN FOR BREEDING

Fowl That Lays Well All Winter Unfit
for That Purpose—Chicks
Not Strong.

The old hens I use for breeders are selected early in the winter months and penned to themselves. In selecting hens for breeders, the first point I consider is vigor. A hen that does not show an appearance of vigor is rejected, no matter how many fancy
points she scores.

The old hens are fed a maintenance ration—that is, a ration that will keep them well nourished without unduly stimulating egg production. My experience is that a hen that lays well
all winter is unfit for the breeding pen, says a writer in an exchange.
Her eggs will not usually run high in fertility, and the chicks that hatch will not be strong. The reason for this is that heavy egg production is weakening, and that the hen cannot impart
to her offspring a strong, vigorous constitution when she herself is in a weakened condition.

A month before eggs are wanted for hatching I gradually work the hens back to a laying ration. Beef scrap is added to the mash and the ration is made less bulky in character. My experience is that when these hens do commence laying, they lay much better than the ones that laid well all winter. And they are much less likely to go broody at the time when eggs
are especially wanted for breeding.

PULLETS HATCHED IN SPRING

Eggs Can Be Assured From Fowls in Fall—Proper Housing and Feeding of Importance.

Poultry owners who wish to obtain eggs in the fall and early winter should arrange to hatch their pullets in March
or April, say specialists in the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.
Birds hatched in March or April will be well matured in the fall. The rest is a matter of proper housing, feeding,
and handling. The chicken house
should be comfortably warm, well ventilated, and clean. The feed should include beef scrap or similar material.
There should be temptation to exercise in scratching over clean litter on the floor.

GIVE FEMALES BEST OF CARE

Breeders Should Not Be Forced to Heavy Egg Production During
the Winter Months.

Females should be given the best care possible, and it is doubtful if breeders should be forced for heavy egg production during the winter months. Heavy egg production preceding the breeding season will probably affect the vitality of the chicks.
Fresh air, exercise and green food are essentials in order to keep the breeding females in the pink of condition.

BRITISH AND FRENCH DELEGATES SAID TO BE VEERING TOWARD MODIFICATIONS

By FRED S. FERGUSON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, June 6—British and French delegates are reported today to be approaching agreement on a degree of modification of the German peace treaty. It was understood that changes in the terms probably will result in some measure in both groups. The French are receding from their previous strong opposition to modification with the British agreeing to abandon most of the exactions recently advocated by them. The reply to the German counter proposal which will embody the proposed modifications is expected to be ready for presentation early next week.

By CARL D. GROAT

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, June 5, Delayed—Hilbert Haase leader of the Independent Socialists, declared in an interview today that the Germans should sign the peace treaty regardless of whether they obtain the modifications. "Personally I believe the German delegates should do their utmost to secure modification but they should sign at any rate. It is more to their disadvantage not to sign them to accept it in its present harsh form."

POSTMASTER GENERAL BURLESON CALLED "FLIM FLAMMER" BY SENATOR KELLOGG

WASHINGTON, June 6—That Postmaster General Burleson still controls telegraph and telephone wires and that his order to restore control to the owners was "flim flam" and designed to "pass the buck" were the views advanced today as the Senate Inter-State Commerce committee met to consider wire legislation. N. C. Kingsbury vice President of the American Telephone and Telegraph company declared that Burleson's order of late yesterday "wiped out only the operating board and allowed the company to take charge of actual operating." "But Postmaster General Burleson," he said "still holds control over the wires with the wire control board of which he is chairman."

"Then his order was a case of 'flim flam'," said Senator Kellogg chairman of the committee. "It doesn't amount to anything."

EXCHANGE OF CHILDREN BETWEEN UNITED STATES AND FRANCE

By PROF. ANDRE FRIBOURG

(Written for the United Press)

(Note—Professor Andre Fribourg is professor of history in the Capital College of the University of Paris. He served as a soldier during the war and was wounded at Verdun. He has been touring the United States for the past five months, lecturing and gathering information for the French Press and Government on American-French relations. Professor Fribourg is the author of a dozen books, mainly on modern history and topics relating to foreign affairs.)

The American and the French people more nearly resemble each other than do any other two nations in the world. Therefore when I return to Paris, I shall report to my government that every encouragement should be given to a close understanding between yourselves and ourselves.

You Americans as far as temperament is concerned, are the direct descendants of the English of Shakespeare's day. You are not like the present inhabitants of the British Isles. You resemble more the Elizabethan English, who were more like the French than the English of today. That is why you have so many traits in common with the modern French. When Shakespeare wrote his plays, the French and English were similar. From that time on the English character in the British Isles did not develop along the same lines as the French. Only the English who came to America continued the tradition.

Americans and French are alike in temperament and persistent optimism. They have the same eager mentality. They react in similar manners to similar experiences. They are quick in thought and their vitality is never at rest. They are the modern Elizabethans. This fact, which I have discovered in America, has caused me to determine to recommend to the French government that an exchange of children be arranged between our two countries. American children between the ages of 15 and 16 should be sent to France to live in full home intinuity with French families. French children of the same impressionable age should come to the United States and be temporarily adopted here. By this means, the next generation in France and America would know one another as intimately as they know themselves.

I shall urge upon the French government the desirability of exchanging professors and students with American universities. I favor the universities of each country adopting one another as sister institutions, so that they shall have a greater sense of comradeship than usually follows the more formal exchanges of lecturers.

These are some of the ways by which our impressions of each other can be moulded by actual facts instead of absurd rumors and false reports. The only reason Frenchmen and Americans have not been seen to resemble each other hitherto is because our views of each other have been too distant. We have trusted to casual visits, instead of really studying our fundamental characteristics.

Once it is understood how similarly we view life and how parallel are our ideals, I believe we ought to be in a position to form a military entente. I am convinced the economic pressure which the League of Nations has created as its principal weapon will never be able to prevent war. Germany not only resisted the pressure, but fought the world's most victorious war. The League of Nations must have military weapons until the spirit of idealism has permeated the peoples of the earth. The best weapon of this kind would be a Franco-American entente, making known to the world that the armies and navies of both countries have been united as formal allies for the preservation of peace. The Franco-American union is the world's peace.

GETTING READY FOR BIG FAIR

The Clearfield County Agricultural Society is hard at work on their plans for Clearfield County's Big Fair which will be held at the Clearfield Driving Park September 16, 17, 18 and 19, 1919.

The premium list issued some four weeks ago shows greatly increased premiums over other years, and from large number of exhibits already listed this year's fair promises to eclipse anything held in this section of the state for years.

It is quite likely that some high class horse racing will be added to this year's amusement program and thus furnish entertainment for everybody.

Keep in mind the Big Fair because it sure is going to be some time.

The meeting of citizens called by Mayor John M. Chase to make arrangements for the welcome and home-coming reception to the Clearfield county service men was not attended by as large a crowd of people as it was hoped would be there.

After discussing the matter at length a resolution was unanimously adopted empowering Mayor Chase to appoint a committee of five citizens to meet with the Clearfield Park association to arrange for a program at the park on Saturday July 5th, for the soldiers, sailors and marines and also to select and perfect an organization for the purpose of arranging for the entertainment of the visitors while in Clearfield.

Mayor Chase appointed the following committee: Walter Welch, M. M. Overy, W. J. Usher, J. Frank Snyder and J. D. Connelly.

ELEVEN DAYS REMAIN FOR CENTENARY

Methodists in This Area Need $750,000 To Complete The Quota of $7,159,000

CHURCHES INCREASE GIFTS

Baltimore, Md., June 4—Methodists in this area are expected to raise $750,000 in the next eleven days, to complete the area quota to the great Centenary fund for world relief, evangelistic and educational projects. The full quota for this area, $7,159,000 in all probability will be fully pledged by June 15th.

Additional returns from various districts received at Centenary Headquarters, here indicate that pastors and their team captains are making spirited campaigns to put their churches over the top.

Earnest work by church leaders in localities that got a late start in the big financial drive has caused the figures to mount steadily. Tabulation of reports from all parts of the area show that the delayed campaigns are progressing most favorably.

Centenary directors here are confident that before the time limit for subscriptions has expired the Area's quota will be pledged in full. This assurance is based upon reports from Superintendents stating that the drive drive gained momentum following the week devoted to an intensive financial canvass of members.

Several hundred churches which have not yet reached their quotas are continuing the campaign in their localities with a view of making a 100 per cent canvass.

In scores of churches throughout the Area the financial campaign will be featured by jubilee celebrations on June eighth and fifteenth. On these two Sundays, the doubtful or weaker churches are expected to roll up a large total of subscriptions. Clergymen in such localities are making a heroic effort to put their churches on the honor Centenary roll.

Rev. Dr. M. E. Swartz, executive secretary of the Centenary, today declared that the Methodist drive got a late start in many communities owing to local preferences, but he said the campaign in such places is now going forward most satisfactorily. An encouraging idea of the Centenary Drive was found in reports today showing that in many churches where the full quota was raised additional subscriptions are being turned in by members who had not had an opportunity to make a gift earlier. Many subscribers previously listed also have

Fire destroyed the large frame barn on the rear of the Dr. S. F. Nevling lots immediately adjoining Callahan Bros. Bottling Works at an early hour this morning. The fire started in the hay mow and had burst through the roof when discovered.

The alarm was sent in from Box 17 at the Pennsy station and when the firemen arrived on the scene it looked very much as though both Ira Waite's residence and the Callahan Bros. Bottling Works would be burned, but by the hardest kind of work, the flames were confined almost entirely to the barn.

The Waite residence and the pop works were each slightly damaged, the roof of the bottling house having been on fire several times.

The barn was owned by Sam Baroni and occupied by the owner and W. B. Holmes dray team. Two horses were in the barn when the fire broke out and were rescued with difficulty. The wagons and harness were also got out, before the rapidly advancing flames drove the firemen out of the building.

It is not known how the fire started but is supposed to have been caused by persons sleeping in the hay-mow.

It was the most spectacular fire in Clearfield in many months and on account of its location and the possibility of a real conflagration attracted an immense crowd of spectators to the scene.

Mr. Baroni purchased the property from Dr. Nevling several months ago. His loss will total about $1000 and is pretty well covered by insurance.

W. B. Holmes lost harness and feed to the amount of $100.

Dr. Nevling had about $300 worth of goods stored in the barn and they too were burned.

REDS PLAN SPECTACULAR BOMB PLOT FOR JULY 4TH, IS OPINION

WASHINGTON, June 6—Word is being passed through "red" circles for a demonstration July 4. Government officials here have been informed, it was learned today. According to these reports "the May day" outrage, June 2 bomb outrage, and the July 4 plot spectacular, continues a progressive series of developments against the government. As a result additional precautionary measures are being taken by officials to strike the reds insofar as the present law permits. Congress is preparing legislation to further the government's campaign against the menace.

PRESIDENT KONENKAMP DECLARES FOR FINISH FIGHT WITH WESTERN UNION

WASHINGTON, June 6—President S. J. Konenkamp, of the Commercial Telegraphers Union of America today declared that Postmaster General Burleson's order restoring the control of the wires to their owners means a "finish fight" between the telegraphers and the Western Union throughout the country. "Federal control," Konenkamp said "was made necessary by the Western Union refusing to reinstate unjustly discharged employees and the abandoning of recommendations of impartial authorities. Postmaster General Burleson by his action in returning the wires shows himself a quitter. He has acted without solving the labor problem which made necessary the original seizure of the wires by the government. We now find ourselves returning to the status quo ante."

Electric workers throughout the country have set June 16, as the date upon which they will leave their jobs and it was regarded likely that Konenkamp will select the same date or the day before or after for the nation wide telegraph strike.

Administration officials were keeping in close touch with strike developments. President Wilson will take a hand in it is thought.

ATLANTA, June 6—Striking leaders early today claimed that at least 950 telegraphers in the southeast had obeyed Konenkamp's strike order issued late yesterday. Railroad operators also are refusing to handle Western Union dispatches at way stations.

PRESIDENT CARLTON SAYS ALL IS WELL

NEW YORK, June 6—Newcomb Carlton, President of the Western Union today declared that the strike of telephone operators in the southeast state was a "flat failure."

"Not a man who leaves the Western Union in an attempt to embarrass the company will ever be permitted to return," Carlton said. "The strike is a flat failure. We have not felt the effect of the walk out. We will control the situation and deliver our business."

"CLEARFIELD LUCK" AGAIN

Modern fire equipment costs money, alright, but when you have it you have something to be deepened upon and to be proud of. Clearfield's up to date fire equipment just about paid for itself in last night's fire. This was one of the fires where nothing but the promptest kind of prompt action was absolutely necessary to save a disastrous blaze.
The alarm was sent in from Box 17 at the Pennsy station and the instant the hook was pulled "Mooley" let loose. The four hose wagons were on the move almost instantly (some of the boys will stay out a little late) and every second gained was needed.
When they arrived on the scene the fire laddies did the rest, and what, at the time of sounding the alarm looked like a $25,000 fire was nipped right short off in the bud in the usual Clearfield style.
You can call it "Clearfield luck" if you will, but do you notice it generally happens that way. Go down and look the ruins over and see what the boys really did.

LETTER FROM LIEUTENANT BRUCE JACOBS

Mother's Day, France, May 11, 1919.
Dear Mother and Dad:
Will write you people a few lines. Am in the very best of health and hope this will find you people the same. Hope by the time you receive this letter you will have the money which I sent you last week.
Mother have just been thinking. That the greater part of the A.E.F. is homeward bound. In a few months (weeks for many) the sufferings of the past and the discomforts of the present will become but a memory. The thousands of young men gathered together from all parts of the country will be separated, each to his home, into his own way of life, and little by little, the A.E.F. will become a memory in the minds and hearts of those who were in it. The pain, sorrow, discouragement and privations, they bore, will become hallowed by the soothing hand of time, and the memory of those days we have but recently lived and are living now, will stand in a different perspective, shadowed not by the dull grays of the present, but by the roseate tints of the past, that ever envelopes romance and adventure.
Time passes and the youth of today is the mature man of tomorrow and he, who but a boy in years faced death and things worse than death (clean living) in the great adventure of all the ages, is a mature man. Greater personal cares have come to him in the paths, others than those of war. But with equal responsibilities, and in campaigns that only end with life. The path of daily living, of citizenship, and with most of them husbands and fathers.
These men who are to be the power of our land in years to come. To think to ourselves (in whose hands they have been) and greatest of all world.

There will be a regular meeting of Clearfield Council No. 281 O.U.A.M. on June 7th, 1919 at 7:30 P. M. All members requested to be present as important business is to be transacted.
By Order of Councilor.
Private Earl F. Getz arrived home last evening after being mustered out from Camp Lee. Served 1 year overseas and was wounded.
The number of coconuts produced each year is estimated at 8,000,000-000 of enough to give seven apiece to every man, woman and child in the world.

GOthic BARN ADDS TO FARM GROUP

Provides Attractive as Well as Useful Building.

SUITED TO AVERAGE FARM

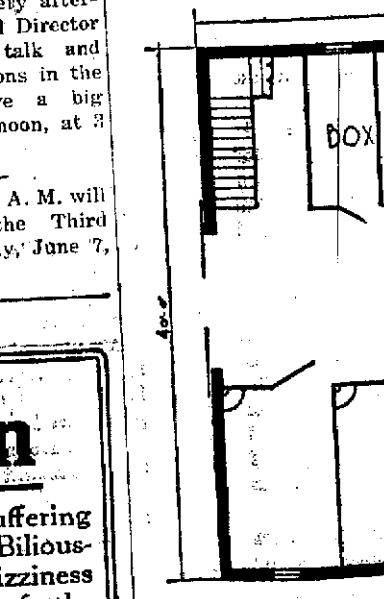

Interior Arrangement Combines All Features and Allows for All Equipment Necessary in Proper Care of Stock.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building work on the farm, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1027 Prairie Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose three-cent stamp for reply.

The barn on a modern farm is something more than a house for the live stock and their feed. By choosing a style of architecture for the barn design that conforms to that of the other buildings or that adds to the general appearance of the farm group, the owner derives a great deal of satisfaction from such a new structure. Beautiful, graceful lines of the building, combined with its utilitarian value, have brought the gothic barn into great favor during the last 20 years. Herewith is illustrated a gothic barn that will be a notable addition to any farm building group. And besides its attractive appearance, this barn is designed so that its interior arrangement will combine all the features and allow for all the equipment that have been found to be necessary in the proper care of live stock and to do the work required to care for the animals.

The building is 80 by 40 feet, of wood construction, set on a concrete foundation. The stable floor is also of concrete, which permits of a driveway and gutter, the latter being one of the prime necessities in keeping the live stock housed in a clean building.
The floor plan given shows one use of the space in the barn. This arrangement, however, may be changed to suit the needs of the owner, whatever they may be. It is equally possible, of course, to increase the length of the barn, the width being ample for all practical purposes, and to make over the interior arrangement to provide for other horses or cattle.
It also should be understood that in getting the artistic roof lines there is

so waste of materials, the architect saving worked out this plan with the idea of economy in materials foremost in mind. The heavy arches necessary to support the roof have been provided with little more material than is used in the ordinary barn.
The floor plan given is for eight cows and a like number of horses. However, it is an easy matter to make this a model dairy barn by facing the animals in and putting litter alleys and gutters on either side. The driveway through the center of the building is of exceptional value, as it allows the owner to drive into the barn with feed, eliminating the necessity of carrying it in by hand.
By the ventilator shown on the roof of this structure, it will be seen that the architect has provided a system of ventilation, without which no modern barn is complete. Fresh air and fresh water—plenty of both—are necessary to health and productivity of cows as food. A water system carrying water to each stall also saves much labor.
Along either side of the barn are windows spaced so that the interior of the stable floor is well lighted and will get plenty of sunshine. The latter is a great germ killer and goes far toward making the building sanitary. For this reason many dairymen prefer to face the animals in, so that the sunshine hits the gutter. It also has been noticed that cows in a field invariably graze with the sun at their backs.
This is an exceptionally good barn design. It is so large that it costs a great amount of money, but is large enough to supply the needs of the average farm.
Every individual who needs buildings, whether they be a home, a barn, a granary, a business or manufacturing building, is urged by the government and all others who have the welfare of the country at heart, to build now. Recent investigations have shown that the increase in price of lumber, cement and all the other things that go into a building have increased far less than any other commodity. And furthermore, it has been determined by the United States department of labor, after a careful survey of conditions, that there is no probability that these costs will be decreased within the next few years. Reconstruction demands in Europe, coupled with a shortage of supply, make it seem certain that building materials will remain at the present price level.
There is a profit-making side of owning good farm buildings that the government officials also are bringing to the attention of the farmers of the country. Never in the history of the United States have the prices of foodstuffs been so high. Grain of all kinds brings double the price it did only a few years ago; live stock prices have increased in proportion.
While it is true that the cost of producing grain and of feeding and fattening live stock for the market have also risen, they have not gone up in proportion to the price obtained for the farm products. The fact that labor costs are high makes it all the more essential that the farm crops and farm stock should be housed in buildings where the work can be performed with the least amount of effort. Saving a couple of hours a day in caring for the live stock is a worth-while saving.
Building a modern barn at this time is not only a patriotic thing to do, but it is good business. Grain and cows are too valuable to be housed in any building that does not keep the former from the weather and the raids of rats and other animals, and the latter in a healthy and productive condition.

IMMIGRATION LAWS TO BE REVISED

WASHINGTON, June 5—Aversion of the immigration laws will be one outgrowth of the nation-wide bomb plot.

Secretary of Labor Wilson has received from Anthony Caminetti, Commissioner of Immigration a lengthy report embodying proposed changes in the law.

The first of these provides for the registration of all immigrants upon their arrival in this country, together with information concerning their habits, appearance, and purposes in this country.

The second provides a probationary period for immigrants. This will enable the Government, in the event it suspects a new arrival of bad tendencies, to grant him permission to remain in the country for a stated period, of say, three or six months.

If his conduct during this time is satisfactory and if he gives evidence of becoming a prospective American citizen, he will be allowed to remain here. If he shows anarchistic tendencies or other shortcomings, however he will be deported immediately to the land from whence he came.

There are approximately 4,000 aliens awaiting deportation at the present time, Mr. Caminetti said today. The majority of these are insane, but a goodly number of anarchists and revolutionists are numbered in the horde. Mr. Caminetti said: "If the changes suggested are finally incorporated in the law, the burden of proof will be on the applicant who seeks admission to this country. As things are now, the burden of proof is on the United States Government to prove the immigrant is an undesirable citizen."

There are few developments here today in the investigation of what remains of the anarchist who attempted to blow up the residence of Attorney General Palmer and kill that official and his family, but who was slain by a premature explosion of his own infernal machine.

BIG CONFERENCE MEET TO BE HELD IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, June 6—College athletes from Ohio to California are arriving in Chicago for the annual outdoor championship meet of the Western Intercollegiate Conference Athletic Association, to be held at the University of Chicago tomorrow. The official entries include nearly a score of the largest universities and colleges in a territory embracing four-fifths of the United States. Several hundred nominations have been made for the various events. On the basis of recent performances, the University of Michigan and the University of Chicago are expected to rule favorites, although several other members of the "Big Ten" are expected to put up a hard tussle for premier honors. General interest in the meet has been increased by the practical certainty that the star performers will be assured of places on the American team which will be sent abroad next spring to take part in the Olympic games to be held at Antwerp.

In the early days of the confectionery trade it was entirely in the hands of the apothecaries. Not until the beginning of the eighteenth century was the confectionery business separated from that of the apothecary, and sweets pure and simple began to be sold.

Within the past few years the price of furniture made of mahogany and walnut has almost doubled, largely because of the vast amount of these woods being used in the making of aeroplane propellers.

17,549,324 U. S. CATHOLICS

This Does Not Include Floating Population, Says Compiler.

There are 17,549,324 Catholics in the U. S., says the 1919 edition of the Official Catholic Directory, just published by P. J. Kennedy & Sons. This figure shows an increase of 133,021 over the preceding year. Decreases were shown in nine dioceses. The increase is the smallest in several years, but this is explained by the fact that censuses were not taken in many dioceses owing to unsettled conditions caused by the war.

Joseph H. Meier, who compiled the directory, says the total would be close to 20,000,000 if the floating Catholic population could be recorded.

An Old Recipe To Darken Hair

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone who knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark thick and glossy and you look years younger.

The Blessedness of Heaven

Homiletics

TEXT—And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes.—Rev. 21:4.

One of the complaints of unbelievers concerning the Bible as a revelation from God, is its seeming scarcity of details concerning the nature of the heavenly life. Considering the interest which must ever be attached to a subject so lofty and important as immortality, it has been claimed that God might have told us a little more about the heavenly home and the life to which the Gospel is a divine invitation. To such objections, there are two answers:

First, God has been limited in his revelation by man's capacity to receive, and second, Bible revelation concerning the future is much larger than is generally supposed.

That God should be limited in his revelation by our capacity to receive is easily understood. The returned traveler from Europe cannot give a detailed description of the architecture of Westminster Abbey to his little child, not because he does not desire to do so but because the child is without ability to interpret words concerning carved columns, arch domes, and sculptured marble. Indeed God has protected the Bible from the saucers of the incredulous by limiting the descriptions of heaven to what seem a few minor details. We have read of an Oriental prince who laughed in the face of the Western traveler who told of rivers chilled to hardness so that an elephant might walk on their surface. It is related that the Southern pastor of a rural church was tried for falsehood because he told of an ice-making machine seen in the North during a summer vacation. God has told men already more than the natural man can believe.

A Wondrous Description.

The Bible descriptions of heaven are exceedingly large to those who study the Bible with care. The closing chapters of Revelation tell of a final judgment, a renovated earth and a sinless life for redeemed humanity. In this description the highest things of earthly contemplation such as jewels, precious stones and pearls become the lowest things of the heavenly life, where streets are of gold and the precious stones capitate city walls. All this is significant, but perhaps the finest description of heaven is contained in the single phrase, "God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes." If nothing else were written, this would be enough, for it is the promise that God will eliminate from the future every tear-provoking circumstance and all existence with all the things that belong to blessedness. If we can by survey of life discover the varied causes of pain and tears, we shall thereby discern the fullness and joy of that life where tears are no more.

Tears of Physical Pain.

Physical pain is a very real thing. The cry of the infant, as it first draws its vital breath; the moans of distress from homes and hospitals; the cries of the wounded and dying on battlefields; the compressed lips of old age as it struggles against decay, all tell of the terror of physical pain. It means much to read of a life where "this corruptible shall put on incorruption, and this mortal shall put on immortality." He who can change the dark soil into the rosebud and the carbon into the diamond can give man the body of glory in the future.

Tears of Vexation and Disappointment. Tears of vexation and disappointment have blinded the eyes of most people. Unshed tears fill the hearts of thousands who cannot reach their ideals in life. There are the tears of those who have loved and lost, or worse still have loved and gained and found the object of love unworthy. All these tears will be wiped away in the future. We shall dwell in the divine light and know the divine will and no longer enter paths of weary effort that must be retraced with bleeding feet.

Tears of fear and dread occupy a large place in human experience, also tears of bereavement and loneliness, and the tears of ignorance are those that come to the eyes of truth-loving men, as they realize the limitations of human wisdom and yearn for a fuller knowledge of the unknown. But the full revelation is coming, and the fearless life shall be ours who believe in Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord.

Patience.

The exercise of patience involves a continual practice of the presence of God. For we may be come upon at any moment for an almost heroic display of good temper, and it is a short road to selfishness, for nothing is left to self; all that seems to belong most intimately to self, to be self's private property, is invaded by these continual trials of patience. The family is full of such opportunities.—F. W. Faber.

The rat is the only wild animal that lives under the same roof with man.

MANY MONARCHS IN THE DISCARD

LONDON, June 6.—What has become of the many monarchs whose thrones were set stumbling either before or on that fateful day of last November, when the collapse of the Central Powers ended general hostilities? All told, there are near a hundred one-time rulers—emperors, kings, princes, grand dukes and those of lesser degree whom the war has left without a job. The greater number of these, of course, were the rulers of the petty States included in the German empire. Some of these are still lingering around their former capitals in the hope that something might turn up to their advantage. The most of them, however, have deemed it wisest to get out of sight of their former subjects and have taken refuge in a foreign country. Switzerland is the place of exile of the most of the former German rulers of lesser degree, while the Scandinavian countries are also offering some of them a temporary abode.

The former Kaiser Wilhelm and the Crown Prince, as most people are aware found asylum in Holland. But much less is known as to the whereabouts of the other one-time sovereigns who scurried to safety like a flock of panic-stricken sheep when the signing of the armistice emptied their thrones.

Constantine of Greece, who made his exit long before the final curtain is skulking fearfully in Switzerland, which is also the asylum of the Grand Duchess of Luxembourg and the sister who was allowed to take her place for a few turbulent weeks.

Ludwig of Bavaria is racing and doubling like a scared rabbit through the forests about Munich, sleeping in a different place every night and heaving ever-increasing signs that he has become afflicted with the mental malady which has been the curse of Bavarian royalty for generations. Ludwig's particular hallucination is that his soldiers won the war.

Nicholas of Montenegro is at present in Genoa visiting two sons-in-law, Russian grand dukes who succeeded in getting out of their country before the Bolsheviks got them. Peter of Serbia still keeps up a semblance of royalty, but he is not likely to venture into his own domain. His erstwhile neighbor of Bulgaria—King Ferdinand—who made a bad guess when he tried to pick the winning side in the war, is said to be hiding under an assumed name, and disguised, in a Vienna slum.

Charles Groce son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Groce of Sixth street, arrived home last evening after eighteen months service overseas.

Many Cases Of Rheumatism Now

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry. Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat

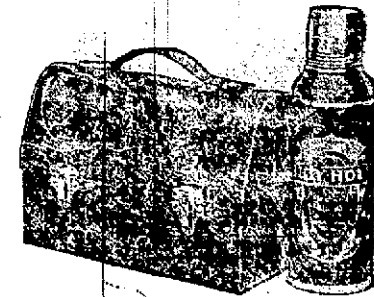

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do considerable work. They become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps circulating and accumulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism, get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Norris left on Wednesday for Wilcox, Pa. where they will spend the balance of the week.

Tonight the commencement exercises of the graduating class of the P. G. H. School for the year's term of 1918-19, will be held in the Academy of Music. After the class exercises a banquet will be held at which a number of graduates will attend.

The baseball game scheduled between Clearfield and Curwensville clubs to come off at 2:30 p. m. yesterday was postponed until 6:30.

Chas. Wall and family and Verne Wall and family left this morning by autos, for a trip to Niagara Falls and other summer resorts in York state.

Mr. Herb Shearer, who has been working in Harrisburg, is home and been on the sick list for the past two weeks.

Are Curwensville citizens going to celebrate the Fourth of July this year is a question agitating the minds of a good many of our people who do not have any desire to leave town on the natal day. What's the matter with having a regular, old-fashioned picnic at the Pee-Wee's Nest, same as the merchants held on those grounds a few years ago? We believe that would be just the proper thing for us older people who like to spend a quiet day among friends and acquaintances.

Mr. C. S. Russel is expected to arrive home the latter part of this week.

Mrs. A. E. Patton will arrive home on Saturday.

Those nice little showers of rain yesterday are just what was needed to make garden plants look up and take notice.

Mr. Woodside was a good clerk, and made many friends during his employment with the company who are sorry to see him leave his old position. He will follow some out-door employment during the balance of the summer.

MOTOR CARS "Built of the Best"

THE DAVIS is outwardly an exceptionally beautiful car. Distinctiveness is built into every line—it is a car you will be proud to own and to drive.

Inwardly it is a marvel of mechanical excellence—an assemblage of the highest grade units from the best specialists in the country.

No one single maker can reasonably hope to excel in the manufacture of all the parts that go into an automobile. We prefer to go to the specialists in each line for the best units that are built.

Our nine years of success and the constantly increasing popularity of Davis Motor Cars demonstrate the wisdom of this policy.

"Built of the Best" has a definite meaning when applied to the Davis. For instance, Continental motors, and other units of equally high quality.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with
phosphate before breakfast
keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense
health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians, the world over recommend the inside bath claiming this is
of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin
pores do not absorb impurities into
the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink
each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful
of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash
from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing sweetening and
purifying the entire alimentary canal
before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the elim-
inative organs.

Those who wake up with bad
breath coated tongue nasty taste or
have a dull aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach others, who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound
of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue
it each morning are assured of pronounced results both in regard to health and appearance.

INJURY TO EGGS IN TRANSIT

Much of Damage Is Directly Due to Faulty Methods of Packing Valuable Foodstuff.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The bureau of chemistry, through
the food research laboratory, has been assisting in reducing the damage to eggs in transit by giving practical demonstrations at shipping points in loading cars of eggs or mixed eggs
and dressed poultry. Much of the damage is directly due to faulty methods of packing eggs in cases and stowing the cases in the car. Four meetings held recently in Iowa were

Fiber-Board Box Filled With Corrugated Lining and Filters of Same Material—Each Egg Has a Wrap.

attended by over a hundred shippers
who send cases weekly, at least, to eastern markets and who expressed great interest in the methods which
the department has worked out for
the conservation of this valuable foodstuff. They and many others have found the department's folder, "How
to Load Cars of Eggs," of assistance.
Copies of this folder can be had by writing to the bureau of chemistry, ture, Washington, D. C.

VIGOROUS HEN FOR BREEDING

Fowl That Lays Well All Winter Unfit
for That Purpose—Chicks
Not Strong.

The old hens I use for breeders are selected early in the winter months
and penned to themselves. In selecting hens for breeders, the first point I consider is vigor. A hen that does not show an appearance of vigor is rejected, no matter how many fancy
points she scores.

The old hens are fed a maintenance
ration—that is, a ration that will keep them well nourished without unduly stimulating egg production. My experience is that a hen that lays well
all winter is unfit for the breeding
pen, says a writer in an exchange.
Her eggs will not usually run high in fertility, and the chicks that hatch will not be strong. The reason for this is that heavy egg production is weakening, and that the hen cannot impart
to her offspring a strong, vigorous constitution when she herself is in a weakened condition.

A month before eggs are wanted for
hatching I gradually work the hens
back to a laying ration. Beef scrap is added to the mash and the ration is made less bulky in character. My experience is that when these hens do
commence laying, they lay much better than the ones that laid well all winter. And they are much less likely to go broody at the time when eggs
are especially wanted for breeding.

PULLETS HATCHED IN SPRING

Eggs Can Be Assured From Fowls in Fall—Proper Housing and Feeding of Importance.

Poultry owners who wish to obtain eggs in the fall and early winter should arrange to hatch their pullets in March
or April, say specialists in the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.
Birds hatched in March or April will be well matured in the fall. The rest
is a matter of proper housing, feeding,
and handling. The chicken house
should be comfortably warm, well ventilated, and clean. The feed should include beef scrap or similar material.
There should be temptation to exercise in scratching over clean litter on
the floor.

GIVE FEMALES BEST OF CARE

Breeders Should Not Be Forced to Heavy Egg Production During
the Winter Months.

Females should be given the best
care possible, and it is doubtful if breeders should be forced for heavy
egg production during the winter months. Heavy egg production preceding the breeding season will probably affect the vitality of the chicks.
Fresh air, exercise and green food are essentials in order to keep the breeding females in the pink of condition.

opportunity of saving by earning.
